Traditionally Who Pays for What

Before you start planning your wedding, it is important to set your wedding budget. This avoids any unwanted surprises. Decide what is most important to you and your fiance and plan your budget accordingly. There aren't absolute rules on who pays for what. In today's world, it is not unusual for the bride and groom to pay for everything or for the groom's family to share some of the financial obligations of the bride's family. Some of the traditional financial division has changed over the years. Communication with all parties involved is vital in setting your wedding plans.

Wedding Planning Advice and Hints

The big day of dreams is finally coming. This is "Your Day" so make it Special! Discuss your plans with your fiance. Do you both want a big or small affair. What is most important to each of you. Include both sets of parents to know what budget you have to work with. Timing of the wedding will make a difference with wedding businesses. A wedding planned in the off season (January to April and October to November) will usually be easier to schedule with businesses and may net a discount. There may be a discount for an afternoon or midweek wedding. Go over the Check List and make sure that details are not forgotten. It is possible to delegate some things to others, but make sure you follow-up in appropriate time.

Shop around for ideas and once you decide on who you want to help with your wedding, ask about any deposits and contracts. Don't sign anything you do not understand. Booking early will help assure that you will get who you want. Many wedding professionals are willing to give advise and recommendations of other businesses in the area.

This is a busy time, not only planning the biggest day of your life, but also the beginning of your new life together. Plan some time for yourself to manage the stress. Be willing to pamper yourself. Consider going to a day Spa for a Manicure, Massage, Pedicure, Tanning, or Hairstyle. How about Teeth Whitening for that perfect photo. Get involved in physical activities to give your mind a rest.

Contact the Newspaper for announcement in advance. They have a form to complete and be sure to include an engagement photo. The Herald Journal charges $35 for the announcement and the deadline is noon the Wednesday before Sunday publication.

Typical Wedding Cost

Very few couples have a limitless budget for their wedding. You will need to set priorities on what is most important to you. Would you like a large framed bridal portrait to portray for generations? A large formal reception? Perhaps it is an extravagant honeymoon. It may be you want to have a great photo selection and a fantastic video to remember that special day. But it is your choice. Each wedding is unique to the couple.

Your budget may look like this:

Invitation and gifts	10%
Ceremony and reception	40%
Wedding Attire	20%

You may increase and decrease any area you want to complete your budget.
